

YP says:

"It ain't pretty, but she'll work. As you can tell it's not perfectly even, so you might just want to use it as a trace, and make a new cleaner, more even one. I used a jigsaw with a fine tooth blade then sanded the edges.

1911 far's advice:

I used masking tape to cover the whole screen, used this as a starting point and evened it up. FWIW- my screen is now about  $5\frac{1}{2}$ " above the dash. I'm 6'2" with a 34-36" inseam, and the buffering is 90% gone.

Mike

Headlight